

Problem Statement: Wikipedia Page Development & Digital Documentation for NSWF

Nisarg Srishti Welfare Foundation is an established environmental organization working in the domains of noise pollution awareness, sustainability, and environmental conservation through structured community engagement initiatives. To strengthen its digital credibility and ensure accurate public representation, the organization seeks the development of a well-researched and standards-compliant Wikipedia page.

Scope of Work:

- Conduct detailed research on NSWF using credible, verifiable, and publicly available sources
- Develop a complete Wikipedia page from scratch in a structured encyclopedic format
- Organize content into appropriate sections including but not limited to: Introduction, Background, Mission & Vision, Programs & Initiatives, Outreach Activities, Collaborations, and Impact
- Ensure all information is written in a neutral, factual, and Wikipedia-compliant tone
- Identify, curate, and include relevant supporting media such as photographs from campaigns, events, and outreach activities to enhance documentation quality
- Provide proper citations and references for all included information
- Review existing publicly available content (if any) and refine it for accuracy, consistency, and completeness

Expected Outcomes:

- A publication-ready Wikipedia draft that meets standard editorial guidelines
- A structured and well-documented representation of NSWF's work and impact
- Supporting media assets organized for potential inclusion on the page

Evaluation Criteria:

Submissions will be assessed on research depth, accuracy of information, content structuring, adherence to Wikipedia standards, and overall quality of documentation. Candidates demonstrating strong performance and attention to detail will be considered for internship opportunities with the organization.

Candidates are encouraged to complete and submit their work within one month of joining for priority evaluation.
